

“WOMEN IN SHIPPING”

Organized by “Shipping, Energy & Geopolitics Bocconi Students Association”

Description: The goal of the event is to revisit the role of women in the maritime and trade industries. During the event academics, private sector, as well as public sector representatives will deliver their views and experiences upon topics like international trade, maritime economy, and shipping policies through 20 min speeches.

When: Thursday February 28th, 2019 at 18.00

Where: Sarfatti 25, Ground Floor, Room 4, Bocconi University, Milan

Schedule:

18.00-18.15 Nikos Therapos | President of Shipping, Energy & Geopolitics B.S.A.

Opening of the event

18.15- 18.35 Mr. Ilias G. Bissias | Lecturer in Maritime Strategy and Policy, ALBA Graduate Business School- ACG, Director of “Naffika Chronika” Magazine

What is trade and shipping in general and what is the contribution of women in these sectors?

18.35- 18.55 Ms. Anna Arianna Buonfanti | Maritime Economy Researcher at SRM

What are the main challenges and opportunities for the international maritime economy in the upcoming years? What is the role of women in the maritime private sector today?

18.55- 19.15 Ms. Raffaella del Prete | Reefer Terminal Manager at APM Terminals

What difficulties faces the shipping industry today and how they could be overpassed in the upcoming years? What is the role of women in the shipping industry today?

19.15- 19.35 Ms. Magdalena Andreea Strachinescu | Head of Unit “Maritime innovation, Marine Knowledge and Investment” at the EU Commission

What are the priorities of the E.U. Commission regarding the maritime policies of E.U.? What is the role of women in the maritime public sector today?

The event will be coordinated by Prof. Paola Antonia Profeta | Associate Professor at Bocconi University.